

You are my inheritance, O LORD!

Today's gospel is Luke's version of the beginning of Jesus' journey to Jerusalem. In it Luke provides a model of the focus and the resolution to remain focused that discipleship requires.

Matthew, Mark and Luke all tell of a certain point in Jesus' ministry when he journeys from Galilee to Jerusalem. Mark's Gospel presents it as a simple move from one area toward the next. In Luke's Gospel, however, it is clear that something momentous is occurring. Only Luke writes about Jesus deciding to go to Jerusalem "when the days for his being taken up were fulfilled" (Luke 9:51). These days refer to the time when Jesus will be lifted up on the cross, raised from the dead, and ascend to the Father. Only the Lukan Jesus shows an iron will at this point in the narrative in the face of his knowledge that the time to depart from this world is near: "When the days for his being taken up were fulfilled, he resolutely determined to journey to Jerusalem" (9:51).

This determination to go to Jerusalem provides an example for the disciples of a willingness to take up the cross that awaits Jesus there. The disciples need such an example because they have chosen to focus on the other aspects of discipleship. Following Jesus' announcement that the disciples need to take up their cross and follow him, the disciples have been focusing on the glory of ministry rather than its strenuous requirements. Thus, although Moses and Elijah at the Transfiguration talk about the journey that Jesus is to make, Peter suggests that the journey halt; that they make tents for Jesus and these Old Testament figures because "it is good that we are here" (9:33). The disciples have also argued about which of them is the greatest, and they have tried to limit exorcisms only to those who are one of their company (9:46-50).

Even after Jesus begins the journey to Jerusalem they ask if they should "call down fire" on a city that does not accept them (9:54). Jesus shows them what the real discipleship is about by simply rebuking them, continuing on the journey, and talking about the rigors and sufferings of discipleship (9:55-10:62).

Preeminent Threats: The United States Catholic Bishops wrote to us as follows in their document on Faithful Citizenship (2007) about the preeminent moral issues we face in society today. They explain, "In our nation, 'abortion and euthanasia have become preeminent threats to human dignity because they directly attack life itself, the most fundamental human good and the condition for all others' (Living the Gospel of Life, no. 5). It is a mistake with grave moral consequences to treat the destruction of innocent human life merely as a matter of individual choice. A legal system that violates the basic right to life on the grounds of choice is fundamentally flawed"

These funds allow him to provide emergency assistance to victims of war, disaster, oppression and disease. Please be generous in today's Peter's Pence Collection

Tuesday, June 29th, the Feast of Saints Peter and Paul, a special presentation on the biblical, historic and archaeological tradition of the presence of these Apostles in Rome will be given by Dan Pater in St. Ann Convent at 7:00 P.M. Please call the church office for more details.

MISSIONARIES OF THE PRECIOUS BLOOD VISIT: Fr. Robert Conway, C.P.P.S., will be with us on the weekend of July 10th & 11th to ask your support for the work of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. The Missionaries of the Precious Blood are based in Dayton, Ohio, but they also serve the Church in Guatemala, Chile, Peru, and Colombia. Next weekend we will take up a special collection at all the Masses and any checks should be made out to St. Ann Church and marked for the missions in the memo. Please welcome Fr.
